

EuroISME's prize for the best MA thesis on military ethics – fact sheet

Aim

The aim of the prize is to promote the involvement in the study and application of military ethics, and humanitarian law in order to strengthen the most fundamental principles when they are needed most: during armed conflict. Moreover, the aim of the prize is to promote a dialogue on key European values, and, through that dialogue, to promote international understanding. Submissions can be made in French, German and English. EuroISME aims to publish the winning theses.

Target groups

The target groups consist of: 1) Cadets, midshipmen and military officers studying at a European military academy; and 2) Civilian students studying at a European civilian university or a European higher education institution. The assumption is that the members of this target will soon be in a position where they can improve the respect for military ethics and international humanitarian law.

The prize ceremony of 2018, in Toledo, Spain

The theses

Only theses at the level of an Academic Master (Masters of Arts) are eligible. A thesis shall have a minimum of 12000 words and a maximum of 20000 words. It is possible to submit in English, French and German. Submissions must have been concluded either in the current academic year or during one of the two previous academic years. A submitted thesis should have received a minimum of a B+ that is to say “very good” from the ethics professor who supervised the author.

The jury

The jury consists of seven European experts from seven different countries:

1. Colonel (ret) Rev. Prof. Dr. P.J. McCormack, MBE, (chairman, United Kingdom)
 2. Brig.Gen. (ret) Benoît Royal, (France)
 3. Dr. Veronika Bock (Germany)
 4. Mil Superior MMag. Stefan Gugerel (Austria)
 5. Senior chaplain Lt.Col.Dr. Janne Aalto (Finland)
 6. Dr. Asta Maskaliūnaitė (Estonia)
 7. Prof. Dr. Desiree Verweij (The Netherlands)
- Ms. Ivana Gošić (Serbia, secretary)

The winners so far...

Subject-matter

A submission on any topic concerning military ethics will be eligible. The winning theses of previous years may serve as examples. They can be found in the drop menu of our website when your cursor hovers over the tab “Thesis prize”.

Submissions

Submissions shall not be made by the authors, but on their behalf by the ethics professors/tutors of the military academies or civilian universities who have tutored them. Submissions shall be sent to secretariat.ethicsprize@euroisme.eu. The deadline for submissions is always 30th November of the year before the year concerned. Thus, concerning the prize for the year 2022, the deadline is 30th November 2021; concerning the year 2023, it is 30th November 2022, etc.

The prize

Two prizes will be available. The first prize consists of:

1. the opportunity to present the thesis orally at EuroISME’s annual conference;
2. the travel and hotel costs to attend the conference mentioned;
3. € 500 for the winner of the first prize; € 300 for the winner of the second prize;
4. the opportunity to publish the winning thesis in EuroISME’s book series and, in the case of the 1st prize, to have it translated;

5. the winner and his/her military academy or university will receive a plaque.

Regulations

The regulations can be found at <http://www.euroisme.eu/euroisme-prize-best-thesis-military-ethics>

Enquiries

At www.euroisme.eu/euroisme-prize-best-thesis-military-ethics we will publish updates. For enquiries contact the Secretariat of the jury at secretariat.ethicsprize@euroisme.eu